Dexter House

Our Dexter House venue is conveniently located opposite the historic Tower of London. Situated just 5 minutes walk from Tower Hill station, the venue sits in the exclusive gated "Royal Mint Court" business community.

Follow the instructions below to walk from Tower Hill or Tower Gateway to Dexter House – keep an eye out for the large stone arch which forms the entrance to Royal Mint Court. Once through the arch, follow the signs to Dexter House.

Please Note: Tower Gateway station will be temporarily closed from 28 June 2008 until Spring 2009 for major upgrade works to allow three-carriage trains to operate into the station.

Directions Tower Hill Tube Station

From the Westbound platform.

Come up the stairs into the entrance hall and pass through barriers, to exit follow the sign for Tower Gateway DLR.

From the Eastbound platform.

Come up the stairs into the entrance hall and pass through the barriers to exit, follow the sign to Tower Gateway DLR (also signed Tower Millennium Pier and Tower of London).

Follow the pathway for 200 yards past the London Metropolitan University (on your left) and at the pedestrian crossing, cross over the Minorities (Societe Generale building in front of you).

Turn right at the Societe Generale building and * cross over the next pedestrian crossing (Sceptre Court will be ahead on your left).

Follow pavement for 100 yards (Sceptre Court will be on your left) and at the next pedestrian crossing, cross over East Smithfield and the entrance to Royal Mint Court (a large stone arch) is straight ahead of you.

Directions from Tower Gateway DLR,

If you are arriving from Tower Gateway follow the instructions from *

Please Note: Tower Gateway station will be temporarily closed from 28 June 2008 until Spring 2009 for major upgrade works to allow three-carriage trains to operate into the station. When complete, the improved station will have a horseshoe style platform, allowing passengers to get on and off different sides of the train, making it easier and faster to board and alight.
